and here's the funny thing, i have one suitor last 2020, i thought that he was very serious on me, 'till i found out that he just wanted to use so that he can survive his business that will turn into bankrupt, since that day that i found out, i never trust anyone again, I guess they just wanted my money, not my love.

My love life was terrible right ? haha i don't know if i can still find such a men like my father, my father treats my mom like a princess, he do everything for my mom, he was such a gentleman, his love for my mother, for me and for my siblings was so full, I am so great to have such a father like him, and always hoping that someday i'll found the right men for me, a men who doesn't need my wealth, but only my love.

Well, that's life, there will be a poeple that will came just to teach us a lesson, it maybe hurt. but we need to accept that this world is not fair, we just need to be strong enough to fight for our life. but we should not forgot the lesson to make our life better.

Hahah i'm sorry if our first day of chat is very emotional, by the way How's your business ?

That's great, i've been so hard when the pandemic started, my business are almost bankrupt, and i am very thankful to my Brother-in-law who introduce to me a sideline to make more money that time.
